

“Lesson of Independence Day” was held at TTPU.

On September 13, 2023 “Independence lesson” was held under the slogan “For a new life, for a new Uzbekistan!” for 1st year students at Turin Polytechnic University in Tashkent. Academician, doctor of technical sciences, professor, distinguished scientist of Uzbekistan Kadirov Savar Mukadirovich visited the event, where a sincere and open dialogue with students was held.

Jamshid Inoyathodjaev, DSc, rector of TTPU opened the event with an introduction and called on the students to be active in acquiring their knowledge, using all the conditions created in the university in the new academic year, and wished them success in their future studies and work.

Then, Savar Mukadirovich noted that 2023 has been declared as the “Year of attention to people and quality education” in our country, and the quality of education and upbringing of the young generation in our country is of decisive importance for the fate of the country.

At the same time, the scientist gave valuable information about his path, scientific activity, and the conversation left a great impression on the students. The event was full of lively discussions and questions.

For information: Honored Scientist Sarvar Muqadirovich Kadyrov is a well-known scientist who has been working effectively in the higher education system for 57 years, has made and continues to make a great contribution to the fields of motor transport, automobile engineering and road communications. About 40 pamphlets, essays, short stories, novels by S. M. Kadirov were published. His novels were published in Russian and English. Under the guidance of the scientist, 3 doctors of science, 9 Phd and more than 20 masters were trained.

