

The list of applicants

The list of applicants participating in ADMISSION test on July 7th

(If you have already registered and couldn't find your name on the list below, it is due to not completing the second step. You will have a chance to take the admission test in August. Your application is still considered active.)

Due to the aggravation of the epidemiological situation (COVID-19) in the country, exams for all applicants remain online. #Stayhome

Remote Admission Test (TIL) instructions

To participate in the admission test, the student must have the following appropriate means:

- Personal computer/Laptop(Notebook) Windows 10 or Mac, equipped with a webcam
- Browser (for example Opera, Chrome, Firefox etc.)
- Network connection suitable for a video conference

In addition, it is mandatory to prepare the ID (identity document, preferably the same used during the registration phase) before the beginning of the test and some blank pages with a good writing pen.

The start time of the test is the one published on your personal Apply page Apply@polito. It is mandatory for the student to prepare on time in order to meet the start time on the schedule and checking the functionality of the necessary devices.

A test simulation is available at a student's personal account and students are required to take the simulation a few days before the test in order to identify and solve any problem or critical aspect.

It is also important to remark that a lack of network connection for a long time period that does not allow the regular execution of the admission test may result in the cancellation of the test itself. Participating in the test implies the acceptance of the methods identified by the Politecnico of Torino, including the video recording to ensure the regularity of the TIL test performance.
